STRATEGIC FRAMEWORK FOR COLLECTOR QUESTS

Section	Key Questions
1 Collector Type Architecture	• What type of collectors exist? • How do collectors typically build out their collections? • What are the quest schematics tied to a single card?
2 Quest Naming	• What naming conventions should be established for common collector quests? • What are representative quest examples across each tier?
3 MVP Priorities & Enablers	• What are the foundational collector quests for MVP? • What core innovations are needed on the Collect App to support collector quests? • What product features are foundational vs. future-state?
4 Tiering & Incentivization	• How do we tier quests by difficulty and attainability levels? • What is the appropriate volume of quests within each tier? • How should rewards scale relative to quest difficulty?

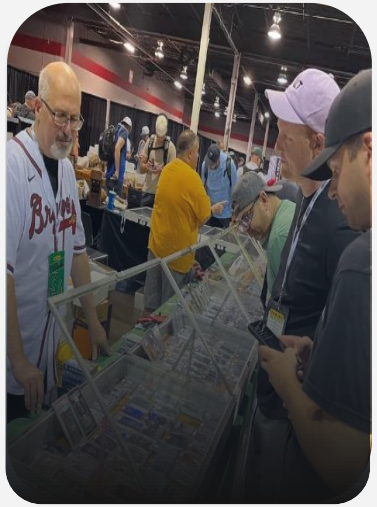
TYPES OF COLLECTORS & THEIR GOALS

Collectors are not a one-size-fits all – their motivations drive how they spend, engage, and evolve across different collecting journeys

NOVICE

New to the hobby and discovering what they enjoy.

Collecting is about learning, experimentation, and first hits.



HOBBYISTS

Driven by fun, nostalgia, and sentimental value.

Collecting is about enjoyment, community, and sharing – value appreciation is secondary.

INVESTORS

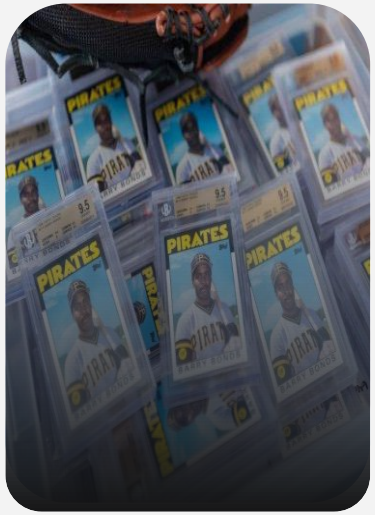
Focused on long-term value and portfolio growth.

Prioritize graded cards, rarity, and appreciation potential.

SET BUILDERS

Motivated by completion and organization.

Seek to finish full sets and enjoy the challenge of acquiring missing cards.



PLAYER / TEAM

Dedicated to a favorite player, team, or character.

Collect for passionate fandom, expertise, and personal connection.

FLIPPER

Opportunistic and transaction-driven.

Buy and sell cards for profit with less emotional attachment.

GTM STRATEGY: PHASED EXPANSION FOR COLLECTOR QUESTS

Phased rollout designed to validate collector behavior, de-risk system architecture, and scale quests across the portfolio

	Phase 1: Pilot	Phase 2: Expand	Phase 3: Scale
Brands	Topps, Topps Chrome	Bowman, Bowman Chrome, Bowman Draft, Topps Finest	All remaining Topps brands...
Objective	Prove collector demand/behaviors and validate underlying system design within controlled scope	Introduce higher-difficulty quests and validate collector progression mechanics	Scale collector quests across all brands and optimize the experience
Key Considerations	Define the Quests • Prioritize foundational quests (Complete Set, Insert Set, Simple Player Stack) • Introduce one curated depth quest Establish Design & Data Architecture • Stand up Data Lake (checklists, scanned HD card imagery, etc.) • Define quest framework (onboarding, enrollment, milestones, etc.) • Implement guardrails to protect brand Align on Reward Philosophy • Anchor MVP on intrinsic progression (status, badges, recognition)	Build the Quest Portfolio • Introduce rarity-driven and progression-based quests (SSP Stack) • Test multi-level quest ladders and milestone structures Strengthen System & Data • Enhance quest tracking/integration • Validate scalability of quest logic across multiple brands • Refine UX based on pilot engagement Refine Incentive Strategy • Introduce milestone-based rewards to reinforce progression • Test limited Fancash/physical rewards	Standardize & Scale Quests • Deploy standardized quest architecture across remaining brands • Enable brand-specific customization and cross-brand quests Optimize Infrastructure • Ensure infrastructure scales to allow product or non-technical users to create & launch quests seamlessly Elevate Rewards Recognition • Introduce tiered recognition systems (leaderboards, showcases, status tiers) • Unlock experiential rewards for top-tier achievements

INITIAL STRATEGY ON REWARD TYPES

Collector quests should balance extrinsic motivation to spark participation with intrinsic achievement to deepen commitment — growing long-term collectors through purity of pursuit, not just purchase

Level 1

Extrinsic Incentive: Digital Badges on Collect App

Objective:
Drive digital onboarding, collector engagement and support collecting behaviors

Quest Types
- Sticker Set
- Base Set
- Rookie/Prospect Chase
- Bronze Nine-Up

Why
- High-volume, repeatable & accessible quests
- Inclusive of lifelong quests
- Rewards reinforce collector identity (“Set Builder”, “Prospector”)

Level 2

Example Incentive: FanCash at milestones & Digital Badge

Objective:
Incentivize sustained engagement and reinvestment

Quest Types
- Rainbow
- Master Set
- PSA Set registry
- Silver Nine-Up

Why
- Requires meaningful time & spend
- Cash rewards encourage reinvestment without diluting card scarcity
- Physical badge sent for higher end quests

Level 3

Example Incentive: Exclusive Low Numbered Auto

Objective:
Reward complex achievements with tangible scarcity

Quest Types
- Nameplate
- Anime Set
- Double Rainbow (multi-product)

Why
- Premier collector for Topps
- Exclusive cards must be clearly limited and equal to quest difficulty to preserve value

Level 4

Example Incentive: VIP experience & physical display

Objective:
Create aspirational VIP moments for the rarest accomplishments

Quest Types
- The Grail
- Three Kings
- 1-of-1 Super Set (all subjects of a set)

Why
- These feats should be rare
- Experiential rewards reinforce status & deepen long-term brand loyalty
